Eco-Fair Participants Needed

(Canton, GA, September 23, 2004) Do you build or repair homes to be more energy efficient? Does your landscape service promote xeriscaping and native plant use? Do you have a clever product that helps homeowners conserve energy? Do you sell natural alternatives to harsh chemical cleaners? Perhaps you've developed an easier way to organize recycling or composting chores. Maybe you specialize in products that minimize allergens in the home or you grow organic produce.

Businesses and individuals with goods and services that promote environmental health are invited to participate in Canton's first Eco-Fair, Saturday, October 30, 2004, in historic downtown Canton. Organizations that promote conservation are welcome also. The Fair will run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in conjunction with Wild Weekend, a popular festival of arts and entertainment for all ages. In the past, as many as 4,500 people have attended the event.

"This is an excellent opportunity for socially responsible companies to showcase their offerings to an enthusiastic audience," said Roy Taylor, architect, community activist, and Wild Weekend organizer. "There's a growing interest nationally and locally, in personal and environmental health. The Eco-Fair reflects this trend," Taylor added.

Eco-Fair 10x10 booth display area donation is $35.00. For more information on the Eco-Fair or Wild Weekend, contact Roy Taylor, 770-720-4669 or wrlpdeas@mindspring.com.
